

Free fun for all at the Migration Museum for Harmony Day festivities!

From the first Australians to the newest arrivals, we all contribute to a rich, diverse society. Let's celebrate together and discover more!

The Migration Museum is holding Harmony Day in the City – an exciting program of celebrations to mark a day of respect for those who call Australia home.

Celebrated every year on 21 March, Harmony Day is about inclusiveness, unity and a sense of belonging for everyone. The day coincides with the United Nations International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination.

On Sunday 19 March, from 1:00pm – 4:00pm, the Migration Museum is inviting people from all walks of life to attend a free family friendly community event in partnership with Baptist Care (SA), Multicultural Communities Council SA, Australian Refugee Association, Welcome to Australia (SA), Lutheran Community Care (SA) and Adelaide City Council.

Harmony Day in the City will feature a cultural smorgasbord of music, food and dance reflecting the diversity of our city. The program will showcase speakers from Afghanistan and Sri Lanka and exciting performances by Tamil drummers, the Nepalese Children's Dance Group, Turkish belly-dancers, Scottish bagpipes and dancers, Indonesian dancers and more. Attendees can also take their taste buds around the world with cooking demonstrations and delicious nibbles to share.

There will be a variety of fun activities, face painting and henna for the children to enjoy, as well as information stalls for new arrivals. There will also be guided tours of the Migration Museum so visitors can discover more about the history of our state.

So come along together with friends and family to share, discover and celebrate the cultural diversity that makes South Australia a great place to live.
